The Wild

Named after a former fishing area known to locals as 'the wild ones', The Wild is built into cliffs on the island's south-east coast. Ideal for couples or groups looking to relax and unwind, the hotel has traditional Greek architecture with earthy colours and modern design throughout – think handmade decorative accessories and woven fabrics. Guests can swim in the cliff-top infinity pool which runs the full length of the property, and book treatments in the open-air spa with its hydro massage pool which is built into the cave walls. There are 40 bedrooms and suites (some have private terraces and plunge pools) plus a two-bedroom pool villa on the cliff's edge. Book a table at Taverna to enjoy typical Greek dishes or head to restaurant Raw for sundowners and Japanese-inspired dishes. Next summer, the hotel will have a sailing boat available for island hopping tours.
