

BILLIONAIRE

THE LONGEVITY ISSUE THE ART OF LIVING BETTER

THE BIOHACKERS • From Bryan Johnson's Blueprint to Dan Buettner's Blue Zones
LANDS OF LEGACY • Billionaires rewilding for future generations

DEEP DIVE • Regenerative agriculture for food security
STAYING THE DISTANCE • The seven-generation Champagne house still in family hands

HIGH-TECH HEALING • Medical wellness retreats around the world
SEEING RED • Could Mars really be humanity's next home?

THE BUCKET LIST

The Wild

by Mira Manek

Given that you feel like you're on a secluded luxury island at The Wild, this Greek hotel lives up to its name in architecture, style and raw beauty rather than in partying. The Wild has been launched by the founders of Interni, a must on anyone's Mykonos night-out list.

A swift 20-minute ride from the airport and I was being shown to my room, spacious and modern, the last of the golden rays swimming through the sheer curtains. My view couldn't be any more idyllic — the pool, ocean, small islands and the sky — a breathtaking vista of greens and blues. The hotel and rooms feel like a homely retreat with subtle opulence, understated luxury for the sophisticated traveller; and for an island known for its all-day party vibes, this quiet haven is a breath of fresh air. What's more, there's a private beach, quite rare in Mykonos, so you have the azure, blue waters of the ocean literally on your doorstep.

thewildhotel.com